Class Will

In the name of common sense: We, the Class of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, of Maroa High School, of the city of Maroa, of the county of Macon, and of the state of Illinois, being naturally, after our high school course, of unsound mind and grouchy disposition and totally incapable of taking care of our large fortune, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament, to wit:

First, after having passed so many tests, examinations, quizzes, and teachers, we are now going to pass from school entirely. We, therefore, bequeath to the school our heart-felt sympathy for its grief over the irreparable loss it will suffer by our departure.

Second, to the faculty we bequeath our deepest sympathy for the trials and tribulations which they have so bravely endured during our four years in M. C. H. S.

Third: To all the underclassmen we bestow the dignity that we have maintained throughout our four years at M. C. H. S.

We, the Senior Class of '34, do hereby bequeath our numerous possessions thusly:

I, Leota Austin, bequeath my ability to write themes to Maymelen Gallagher, providing she doesn't work on them any harder than I.

I, Thomas Bennett, bequeath my patience with the ladies and my pipe to Ralph Hanes.

I, Cathryn Berry, bequeath my long hair to Betty Adams so that it will make her more attractive.

I, Harry Bowden, will my pessimistic ideals to "Ike" Luckenbill, in order to help him figure out the inhabilities of the future M. C. H. S. athletic teams.

I, Leonard Braden, will my musical ability to Harold Leinhart, so that M. C. H. S. may be well represented in the future Macon County Music Festival.

I, Paul Braden, bequeath my bashfulness to Ruby Schultz, so he may regain his strength with the girls.

I, Lois Brunson, bequeath my ability to attract alumni to Dorothy Jane Vantries.

I, Donald Cade, bequeath my popularity with the Mott sisters to Bill Berry, providing he doesn't take Frances.

I, Ann Caplinger, will my bright red finger nail polish to Mr. Wolfe, providing he doesn't wear it with his green tie.

I, Charles Carney, bequeath my knowledge of writing love poetry to Junior Waller.

I, Doris Carney, will my walking library to Larkin Fishel; that is, if he will promise to take care of it.

I, Elwood Cooper, bequeath my congenial smile to Eugene Link, as I think he will be able to use it effectively.

I, Darrell Dash, bequeath my ability as a negro impersonator to Patty Cramer.

I, Helen Dean, bequeath my height to Bernard Bowman, so he will develop into a great basket ball star.

I, James Emery, will my infatuations for Clinton girls to James Mathew.

I, Isabel Ferrill, bequeath my mathematical ability to Wilma Sheemaker, so that she may become as popular with the sophomore boys as I have been.

I, Chris Garriott, bequeath the treasury of the Class of '34 to the Class of '35 with prospects of better luck.

I, John Glosser, bequeath my wavy hair to Wilbur Wendling in order to complete his irresistible attraction for the weaker sex.

I, Hattie Haliski, will my ability to play the part of Madame Fifi to Mary Alice McGuire.

I, Geraldine Hilt, will my singing ability to the glee club. Maybe if they divide it up they may improve somewhat.

I, Virginia Hockaday, will my bright and sunny smile to anyone who can use it as effectively as I can.

I, Viola Joynt, bequeath to Mary June Cramer my ability to attract next year's senior president.

I, Stanley Langrand, bequeath my pestiferous ways to Casmier Halieki, even though he doesn't need them.

I, Pauline Larson, bequeath my desire for red hair to Mildred Rains.

I, Melbourne Lazelle, bequeath my knowledge of married life to Aaron Fishel, so he can be a model husband.

I, Willard Lowry, bequeath my ability to tell jokes in the Civics Class to anyone who wishes to take up my profession.

I, Bonnie Marlatt, bequeath my ability to draw to John Sprecklemeyer in order to aid him in making right angle corners in his model A.

I, Ralph Mayall, bequeath my detective ability to Ross Wikoff in helping to capture Dillinger.

I, John Meador, will my crooning voice to Bill Wikoff, so Helen won't ever get lonesome for me.

I, Dorothy Miller, bequeath my anti-fat recipe to Lois Lowry, who may need it at some future date.

I, Eloise Margenthaler, will my educated hitch-hiking thumb to Catherine Miller, so she may have a perfect attendance.

I, Mary Belle Morris Reed, bequeath my ability to play the squeeze box to James Robinson.

I, Frances Motz, will my talkative tongue to Mildred Riley to captivate some bashful Romeo.

I, Arthur Oakley, bequeath my south paw basket ball shooting ability to Emily Jane Dewhirst.

I, Harriett Pollock, bequeath my love for dill pickles to Duane Brett.

I, Betty Potter, will my curves to Mae West.

I, Martin Pulliam, bequeath my radio ability to Wm. Jones so that he may become as popular as I have not with the girls but with the studios.

I, Deral Rains, will my title as little office girl to Twain Fort.

I, Leon Riley, bequeath my oratorical ability to Dale Redmond.

I, John Sterling, will my patience with a typewriter to Charles Thomas, as he needs engineering ability.

I, Robert Stoutenborough, will my regards for no one's opinions to Mary Louise Coulter, as she doesn't care a hoot.

I, George Stein, bequeath my ability to call square dances to George Leinhart, so he can successfully learn to call hogs.

I, Helen Wikoff, bequeath my winsome smile to Ruth Austin, as she needs it.

I, Viola Wendling Dagley, will all my regards concerning early marriages to Wanda Marlatt.

I, Beth Withers, bequeath my ability to roll my eyes to Stella Haliski.

We hereby appoint Mr. F. B. Norton executor of this, our last will and testament.

In witness where-of we here-unto set out foot this 25th day of May in the year of our Lord God A. D. one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four. Signed, sealed, delivered, and published as our last will and testament.

Signed Beth Withers, Helen Dean,
Isabel Ferrill, Leonard Braden.

SCHOLASTIC HEADS NAMED

Doris Carney was chosen valedictorian and Viola Wendling, salutatorian of the Class of 1934.

History of the Class of '34

Around the first part of September in nineteen hundred and thirty some fifty of the so called green Freshmen entered the portals of Maroa High School to further develop their mental ability. They were welcomed into High School with the annual Wiener Roast, held at Maxine Stiver's home. The boys were lucky for Mr. Menke put a ban on all serious hazing. For our first year John Sterling was chosen President, John Meador Vice President, Doris Carney Secretary, and Twain Fort Treasurer. Our advisors were Mr. Norton and Miss Garrison. The class colors picked were crimson and cream, the flower was the American Beauty Rose, and the motto was "Over, under or through; but never around." Near the end of that year we moved into this spacious building from the over-crowded old building. The class helped to send the Seniors off at the All School Picnic.

The next year forty eight students entered school as slightly dignified Sophomores but we soon found that we were about as bad as the Freshmen. Our advisors this year were Mr. Keyes and Mr. Wolfe. During the year Mr. Wolfe's Home Room worked out the basic part of the present Point System. The officers this year were Cathryn Berry President, Bob Stoutenborough Vice President, Viola Wendling Secretary, and Charles Carney Treasurer. A majority of the class attended the Freshmen Weiner Roast at the Spreckelmeyer farm. The class enjoyed several get-togethers this year, one was in the form of a Kid Party at the High School Gym, another was the Halloween Party at Pauline Larson's home. A Sophomore Weiner Roast and the yearly School Picnic were also taken in.

Forty four upperclassmen came back to school the next fall with the idea to really enjoy the last two years. Bob Stoutenborough was elected President, Arthr Oakley Vice President, Helen Wikoff Secretary, and Pauline Larson Treasurer. Mr. Keyes and Miss Flugum were our advisors this year. Of course most of the class attended the annual Freshmen Weiner Roast at George Stein's home. We put on a mystery play "The Phantom Pilot" during the first part of the school year, it was determined a success. Soon after the play, Wesley Kinkaid, one of our most valuable members was called. Near the end of school the class entertained the Seniors at the annual Banquet evidently it was a good banquet for no complaints were heard. In order to start the vacation off right we had a picnic at Nelson Park in Decatur. Another picnic, for the whole school, was also held at Nelson Park.

This year we entered school, forty five strong, determined to make it the biggest and best year of all. At the first class meeting Leon Riley was elected President, Helen Wikoff Vice President, Leota Austin Secretary, and Chris Garriott Treasurer. The Seniors, with rest of the school, were hosts to the Freshmen at the Weiner Roast held in the Gym because of rain. Our advisors for this year were Mr. Norton and Miss Flugum for part of the year. Another Weiner Roast the Junior and Senior, was held at Charles Milnes' home. For its play this year the class successfully gave a comedy, "Oh Professor." The party at Eloise Morgenthaler's home was enjoyed, especially some parts. Much to the envy of the rest of the school, the whole class skipped school and part of them collected and journeyed to Millar Park in Bloomington. Early in May the Juniors entertained us at the Junior-Senior Banquet at Sunnyside Country Club near Decatur.

Now we are about to leave and this will be one of the last times we will all be together. The School Picnic will be a farewell party. During its four years of existence the class has been active in all extra-curricular activities. On a May thirty first we shall receive our diplomas and the class will be a memory. "Tout est bien qui finit bien."

—Harry Bowden.

PEOPLE IN BIG HOUSES

I walked along, noticing buds on the trees,

And I saw red berries on some bushes,
And I saw the velvet lawns of people in big houses.

I do not envy them—

People in big houses.

For as I walk along I am contented,

And I am glad that I can see the flowers

And that I do not have to sit

In a big house, for hours and hours.

No, I do not envy them—

People in big houses.

What do they know of life and love

That a little cottage holds within?

No, I am glad that I am free,

That I can walk along contented

And smile at them—

People in big houses

—Betty Potter.

FRESHIES HAVE FROLIC

"I scream

You scream

We all scream

For ice cream."

This was the cry of the freshmen who attended a party at Louise Ann Parker's home May 22. An enjoyable evening was spent. May you, Freshies, keep up the good work.

CLASS SONG

Tune: "Memories"

Verse

Round us when the end comes stealing
Shadows of days that are gone
Thoughts of the old days revealing
Memories of school linger on.

Cho.

Memories, memories,
Dreams of school so true.
If an honor comes to us,
We'll credit it to you.
High school days, our school days,
Among our friends and chums.
We're leaving you now—
But still you will be
In our beautiful
Memories.

—Geraldine Hilt.

Juniors Breakfast at Salt Creek

Every time we turned around and looked back into the study hall Friday, May 18, we were sure to see a junior sleeping. Upon inquiring into the matter we found that a group of the girls had stayed up all night, so they would be ready to go to the four o'clock breakfast. Friday!

Tsk! What will the juniors do next?

General Business Science Class

Presents Unusual Assembly

Miss Hallford's Business Science Class presented an interesting assembly.

The first part consisted of a play, "Travelers All," with characters portrayed by Melbourne Lazelle, Bill Wikoff, Dale Redmon, Stella Halicki, Joan Foulke, George Lienhart, Casmier Halicki, Pauline Braden, Albert Kinkaid and other members of the class.

Wilma Shoemaker gave a reading, and Harriet Bunner sang.

The Maroa High School Rhythm Band played three selections. The girls wore hair-ribbons, and short socks. Betty Adams was the leader. Jeanette Parker accompanied them.

Graduates of Today

Commencement time is a time of beginning—beginning in the sense that the student has completed one lap of his journey of preparation and is ready to start on another. Many graduates are wondering just what step lies ahead for them. They may doubt that an immediate start on the next phase of their careers is at hand due to the apparent chaos of our economic life. They stand at a crossroads wondering which path to take and it may seem that all paths are obstructed.

The danger of pessimism is great. Because of this it is well to look at a few facts on the other side of the picture. It is clear that our civilization is passing through a great transition period. Old things are being swept away and many new experiments are being tried. Because of the greatness and suddenness of the change it is keenly felt and accompanied by disaster and tribulation. Although our present order may seem to be tumbling about our ears, it is necessary to have faith that a new and better order must come. The graduate of to-day is standing in the midst of this change with the opportunity before him of helping to build the new structure. If we agree with the thinkers and scientists who believe in the optimistic side of the situation, we can have faith in the idea that civilization has always gone forward, and that out of periods of turbulent change and turmoil, something better has always emerged. Let our graduates to-day have faith in this lesson taken from the story of the human race and believe that out of present conditions, their chance will come.

Although the economic side of life seems to concern us most of the time, conditions to-day have shown that this is not the only side of life for which to prepare. There are other valuable fields that must not be forgotten. The use of increased leisure time, the aesthetic side of life, a true understanding of Christ, an appreciation of home and friends are a few important phases of life that must be developed for complete living. Our graduate of to-day must forge ahead determinedly with faith that his chance will soon come. Youth will find a new way through it all and add new gifts to civilization.

High School Exhibits Shown

at Last P. T. A. Meeting

The last P. T. A. meeting of this year was held Friday night, May 18. Following the business meeting, the parents and friends looked at the exhibits of the various departments. The parents and teachers talked during the social hour.

SENIORS OBSERVE SKIP DAY

The seniors got rather tired of being "bossed" by the teachers, so they said; consequently April 25, they decided to go to Bloomington instead of coming to school. They visited the park at Bloomington and reported a very enjoyable day.

Just you wait, seniors, our time is coming!

SENIORS CHOSEN FOR PLAQUE

On May 31, the seniors whose names were to be placed on the gold plaque were announced. The seniors voted on the five they wished to have selected but the final choice rested with the faculty.

The names were chosen on the following grounds;

Character, personality, leadership, scholastic ability, and participation in extra curricular activities.

Those chosen were: Doris Carney, Robert Stoutenborough, Chris Garriott, Geraldine Hilt, and Helen Wikoff.

HONORABLE MENTION

The following seniors have been on the honor roll all their senior year:

Virginia Hockaday, Hattie Halicki, Robert Stoutenborough, Pauline Larson, Deral Rains, Doris Carney, Cathryn Berry, Betty Potter, Leota Austin, and Harriett Pollock.

OVER UNDER NEVER AROUND

Over, under, never around

Has been 34's main back ground,
To strive towards a goal has been our aim

Although some of us care not for fame.

Our motto from our freshman year has been

An onward path on which we trend
Over, under, never around

Although we are tempted to turn about.

Some of us are studious, while others play,

But we shall all reap a reward some day.

Our four years of pleasure will soon be done

And most of us the fight will have won.

We were glad at first to see it end.

But we thought of our chums and where they would wend,

Our gladness is sadness as we appear to-night

For our friends and chums will soon fade from sight.

We thank you, and wish you success in the school

And may you have luck, we did as a rule,

For over, under, never around

Has been 34's main back ground.

—Virginia Hockaday.
